SPEED

Up for it

going for it

heart racing

speed chasing

overtake

on the make

what a sight

what a red light?

The energising effect of speed (amphetamines) may lead to drivers taking increased risks, becoming over-confident and aggressive on the roads. Pupil dilation leads to disoriented perception of light, which may impair judgement. After-effects include exhaustion, fatigue and falling asleep at the wheel.

¥ Penalties for use ~

5 years use
imprisonment and/or a
fine and/or losing your driving licence.

COCAINE & CRACK

Cut up

cut you up

Dr Jekyll

Mr Hyde.

Same as speed (amphetamines), only worse. Over-confidence and aggression on the roads. Sudden mood swings, particularly in come-down. Paranoia, road rage. After-effects include exhaustion, fatigue and falling asleep at the wheel.

¥ Penalties for use ~

7 years use

imprisonment and/
or a fine and/or losing
your driving licence.

ECSTASY

Off your box
what a party
dance crazy
feeling hazy
going wild
in the streets
upside down.

Increased risk taking, blurred vision, mild hallucinations, impaired judgement. Heat-stroke at the wheel if not properly hydrated. Wafting off on a train of thought, not concentrating on the roads. After-effects include exhaustion, depression and falling asleep at the wheel.

¥ Penalties for use ~
7 years use
imprisonment and/
or a fine and/or losing
your driving licence.
